WAR ON THE SALOONS OPENED BY CATHOLICS

Every Member of Church Is Called to Arms in a Campaign For "Dry" State

Warfare, vigorous and unrelenting, has been declared by Roman Catholic temperance advocates against the liquor traffic. A call to every member of the Catholic Church in Illinois to join in the fight for a "dry state," denunciation of Catholic societies which tolerate the sale of intoxicants at picnics and at Saturday night dances held by them, and an appeal for a rigid enforcement of the Sunday closing law—these were contained in resolutions adopted Sunday by the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of Illinois. The resolutions, read by Rev. D. J. Crimmins, pastor of St. David's Church, were prepared by him and by Professor W. H. Cahill and Patrick R. Flanagan.

BACKED BY ARCHBISHOP

Backed by Archbishop Quigley, the movement has enlisted the sympathy of many Catholic pastors, and plans are on foot to establish in each parish from Chicago to Cairo concrete organizations to battle against the liquor industry.

The gathering Sunday at Temperance Hall, 55 Eldridge court, marked the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of Illinois. It was in the nature a prelude to the national convention at the Auditorium, to be held Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

PLAN MONSTER PARADE

Preceding the big demonstration and by way of a "silent answer" to the declaration of Mayor Ross of Milwaukee, Catholics of Chicago will hold a monster parade through the downtown streets in which it is expected 10,000 total abstinence supporters will participate.

The idea, originating with Mrs. W. C. H. Keough, a delegate to the convention, was adopted with applause. Floats of various designs will appear in the parade; and one of the floats, it is announced, will be devoted to the largest family of temperance advocates in Chicago.

The Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, re-elected president of the state organization, opened the programme at Sunday's meeting by denouncing the liquor industry from the pulpit of his church. The battery against the saloon was continued throughout the afternoon and in the evening at the hall where the gathering reconvened.—Ex.

BIG FIRE IN CRANDON.

A Block of Six Store Buildings Burned, With Stocks of Goods.

Fire wiped out the six store buildings and most of the stocks of goods Tuesday morning of the S. A. Gifford grocery, P. Marks Clothing Company, Crandon Hardware Company and the Brillion and Sherlock groceries. The Fred Ziehm meat market and H. Marks, groceries, suffered total loss of $35,000, about one-third of which was covered by insurance.

Grand Fourth of July Celebration on the Fifth

By Rhinelander Aerie No. 359 F. O. E.

Sports, Games, Races, Ball Game and Dances to Entertain the People

Monday is the great day. It is not necessary to tell what the Eagles will do. They had charge of the exercises two years ago. A full program is arranged for the entire day. Parade will take place at ten o'clock. This will be extensive. Many business men assure us that they will have floats. Rev. Grant Clark will deliver the oration at the city hall at 11 o'clock.

Judge Walker will read the Declaration of Independence. All sports for prizes will take place in the afternoon on Brown and Stevens streets. Dances will be given in the evening at the Armory and Gilligan's. Tickets are one dollar; good for both halls.

The Fourth takes place but once a year, celebrate, but celebrate in a sane sober way.

MUST GET LICENSE

Non-Residents Must Pay to Fish in Wisconsin Waters

Under a new law passed by the recent Wisconsin legislature, people living outside the state must pay one dollar to fish in this state. This law applies to males over sixteen years of age. Women and children are not debarred.

Martin Berg, the game warden of this section now has in his possession licenses which any male over sixteen may secure. These licenses must be in the possession of the fisherman when he is fishing.

Other laws have been passed which affect all classes. No person must make a catch of over forty-five pieces of trout in a day and the trout must be six inches in length. Pike and pickerel must be twelve inches. Black, yellow, green or orange bass must be ten inches; white bass and sun fish seven inches long, and the fisherman must limit his catch to fifteen bass a day. In spite of the fact that an effort was made at the last legislature to let down the bars to seekers of fish and game the laws were made more rigid. To preserve the fish and game every precaution must be taken.

TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT

Many people are expressing their surprise at the extent of the anti-tuberculosis exhibit and the thorough manner in which this subject is being discussed by those in charge. The lectures not only deal with the practical matters concerning health but show plainly the nature of tuberculosis and the possibility of getting rid of it.

Thursday evening Dr. Stone will lecture at the exhibit on breathing, ventilation and disinfection. Friday evening a special lecture will be given at the Armory by Dr. Williamson. This lecture ought to be attended by every man, woman and child in this city for the speaker is an expert on tuberculosis and a good lecturer.

Mr. W. O. Gloyer, person in charge of the exhibit, has set Friday afternoon for the children and will lecture to them at 3:30. This deals with this disease and is given so that the children can well understand it. In other cities visited, children have gone long distances to hear Mr. Gloyer's lecture and the stories he gives in connection with them.

O'DONNELL—McGINLEY

M. J. O'Donnell and Miss Mary McGinley, both of this city were united in marriage at Crandon, Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. Mr. O'Donnell is a popular conductor on the Soo road and Miss McGinley was a former pupil in Rhinelander high school, and since leaving the high school has been a prominent teacher in Oneida county. As the train passed through the city it was noted that the car in which Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell were passengers was placarded, announcing that Conductor O'Donnell and bride were aboard.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell have gone to Minneapolis and from there will go to Chicago for a short stay and later will return to Rhinelander where they will reside.

HICK'S FORECAST FOR JULY

Prophet Says Month Will Be Hot With Many Storms

Rev. Irl L. Hicks has issued his weather prophecy for July, and it promises storms, rains and hot spells. A regular storm period covers the 1st to the 6th, of July, being central on the 3d. Very high temperatures will prevail from about the 2d to the 5th causing a warm wave.

From 3d to the 5th, blustering violent storms will visit many localities. The 4th promises rain and thunder storms for many localities.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 8th, 9th and 10th. This period promises severe electrical and atmospheric unrest.

A regular storm period is central on the 27th. Storms of threatening aspect will visit many localities, progressively from west to east, between the 14th and 17th. The high temperature and storms may not reach a final crisis until the conjunction of the moon with earth and sun on the 15th. This period promises the heaviest rains of any period in this month.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 19th, 20th and 21st. We look at this time and at other July periods, for local cloud bursts over narrow scattering localities with wide intervening sections without normal or sufficient rainfall.

A regular storm period is central on the 26th, extending from the 24th to the 28th. Heavy electrical storms and violent summer gusts are very probable about the 23d and from that date on through the period 24th to 28th. Spells of the most oppressive summer heat are among results to be expected, ending in fierce lightning, thunder, hail and sudden drop in temperature.

WOODRUFF CELEBRATES

Woodruff will celebrate, Saturday July 3. They have made complete arrangements for the Fourth of July exercises and the program is a full one.

County Superintendent of Schools M. V. Joyce will be the orator of the day and all exercises incident to the occasion are now arranged for.

The Military band of this city will furnish music for the exercises and will play for the dance in the evening. Many Rhinelander people are planning to attend.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING

George Morris, the ten year old son of William Morris, was accidentally drowned Monday afternoon, while running on logs in Boom Lake. His body was found at eight o'clock that evening about three hours after the drowning.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at two thirty; Rev. Tink officiated.

WIFE BEATERS BLAME HEAT.

Whiting, Ind.—Seven men in jail today for beating their wives will plead in court that the hot wave drove them to it. James Brown threw a shoe at his wife and tore off one of her ears. Thomas Bosock knocked his wife down and kicked her in the face. He said he also was crazed by the heat. The other five men also lay their rage to the weather.—Ex.

INTERURBAN ROAD A POSSIBILITY

Efforts Being Made To Connect This City And Three Lakes

It is reported on good authority that an effort will be made in a short time to get a franchise for an interurban road between this city and Three Lakes.

This is inspiring news. A single surface railroad would be the beginning of a whole system of electric lines. Of course it would be but a short time before the road would be extended to Eagle River, Tomahawk, Merrill and Wausau. This would bring in many settlers and the country would be settled up rapidly.

While we all appreciate a good manufacturing town we would be delighted to be backed up by a splendidly developed farming country. Farmers are going to settle where they can get advantages.

Rhinelander should be ready to give a bonus for a railroad between here and Three Lakes and the real estate men should be willing to give their share. It would increase the value of adjoining farm lands rapidly.

While Rhinelander has done little the last few years to advertise and develop her surrounding lands, the business men seem fully alive to the situation this year and we believe much good will come from it.

C. A. Wilson, W. C. Orr and James Baker are a committee at Room 6 city hall sending out much literature advertising our farming lands.

While the two gentle men who are working on the railroad proposition are unwilling to announce their names at present, we hope they will be ready to come out in the lime light soon. We must pull every string to develop this county and nothing will do it faster than a net work of rail roads.

BASE BALL

Rhinelander Made Good Showing With Hurley

The contest last Sunday at the Fair grounds between the Hurley base ball team and the local team was a good article of base ball. While it was really the first time the members of the Rhinelander team had played together they held their own well. After a little practice as an aggregation we expect they will make good with any of the teams.

Summary—Two base hits, Burbage, Jastram, J. Ballies, Arbortz. Struck out by Ballies 8, by Johnson 3. Hit by Pitcher by Ballies 3, by Johnson 1. Base on balls by Ballies 1. Umpire Roller.

Oshkosh Cubs play here here Sunday and Monday.

Ballies brothers show up good, also Jastram the new third base man. Features of the game, two remarkable catches in left field by Bucholtz.

Sunday and Monday the home team plays the Oshkosh Cubs on the home diamond and after the showing of last Sunday we expect large crowds. Now that the boys are doing their best, give them liberal support both in attendance at the games and in subscriptions. It takes cash to run a base ball team.

FIRE IN MILL YARD

Hose companies No. 1 and No. 2 responded to a call at the F. H. Johnson Lumber company mill yard Sunday afternoon at about 6:30. A small fire supposed to have started by a spark from an engine was discovered. The hose companies responded quickly and the fire was soon put out. It is said that two boys who discovered the fire carried water from a near by pond, and in this way kept the fire under control until the hose companies arrived.

ADVICE TO YOUTH

The following is a poem by Mrs. D. M. Taylor of Monico, a lady 84 years of age:
The Fourth of July comes but once a year
And usually the sun shines warm and clear.
But the weather has been so unsteady of late
If we make plans ahead disappointment's our fate.
But you bet the sun is blazing hot today,
So we know not with surety what the weather will be.
But trust 'twill be fine for our boys' sake you see.
They're both brave and patriotic and soon will be men,
Who can handle big guns with the best of them.
But don't handle such weapons till your country calls,
For brave young soldiers to uphold its laws,
To defend its parts from the covetous grasp
Of despots or rebels the first or the last.
But if they need you Boys and your country calls,
Then buckle on your armor and obey its laws.

MANY BADGERS AT EXPOSITION

More than 200 people from the Badger state visited the Exposition Beautiful at Seattle in the first two weeks, and this does not include the members of the Wisconsin Society who reside in Seattle. Since the legislature of Wisconsin made the $1,000 appropriation to aid the society in carrying out a fitting celebration on Wisconsin Day, which falls on July 13, plans have been rapidly pushing to completion and but for the names of the speakers everything is now determined upon.

The Wisconsin Society has a reception booth in the balcony of the Liberal Arts building and desires that everyone from Wisconsin register there, giving the town they come from and the hotel address in Seattle. Through this means, friends from other parts of the state or country will be able to get in touch with each other.

Mrs. Mabel D. Bold, University of Wisconsin '00, is in charge of the booth and will gladly give any information desired. She will have the program of special events for Wisconsin visitors and of the various receptions which will be held for their benefit.

ITCHING ERUPTIONS

QUICKLY COOLED

Just a few drops of Oil of Wintergreen properly compounded and washed into the skin will take away instantly the worst kind of itch.
If you are suffering with any kind of skin trouble, such as Summer rash, prickly heat, poison ivy, poison oak, etc., you can rid yourself of the itch in ten seconds by washing with Oil of Wintergreen compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. Physicians recognize D. D. D. as the standard for eczema and Psoriasis, and it has certainly been found invaluable for all other skin diseases.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS

Come to Hundred of Rhinelander People
There are days of dizziness;
Spells of headache, sideache, backache;
Sometimes rheumatic pains;
Often urinary disorders.
All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Mrs. Joseph Dolan, 510 Eighth St., Merrill, Wis., says: "I have only used Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, but they have proven of great benefit to me. I suffered for months from pains across the back and loins. I had frequent headaches, was very dizzy, and my back was so weak in the morning that I could hardly straighten. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, my back is free from pain, and I feel better in every way."
Plenty more proof like this from Rhinelander people. Call at J. J. Reardon's drug store and ask what customers report.
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

During the speaking July 4th all noise should be avoided.

It recently has been demonstrated that a person can not be incarcerated without a fair and impartial trial. Heretofore is not testimony. The accused are not to blame because the accusers rather withdraw a case than present their evidence. Public opinion often-times changes when the facts become known.

At the next regular meeting of the council, saloon licenses are to be granted. The names of applicants have been published and their bondsmen given. Is the committee to call it a wholesale affair and license everything that asks or are they to do as many other towns are doing, make a black list. There is no question about the need of a black list, and we believe the men in the saloon business who try to live up to the laws will fully agree with us. It is time that action was taken. Clean them up. In our narrow field we know of at least one saloon that should be refused a license.

Aldrich, the tool of trusts, a man who represents about eleven per cent of the people of New Jersey, has completed his tariff measure or rather the tariff measure dictated by the corporations and the trusts and now it goes back to the house of representatives for Uncle Joe's final action.

We say Aldrich because through all games Mr. Aldrich and his supporters have over-ridden the representatives of the people and carried their points in a bold high handed way. There is one satisfaction, the progressive republican senators of the middle west have made it interesting for Aldrich and his backers. Attention has been called to the high handed methods; the people see.

Is this tariff in accordance with republican pledges before election? No, the duties were to be reduced in the interest of the masses.

Of course the violation of pledges to the people will be shown up. In the last three years, one dissenter in the U. S. Senate has grown to a dozen and now we hope and believe the dozen will multiply to a majority.

This district is interested in the paper and pulp schedules in the new tariff bill. The following is what congress has done up-to-date:

Settlement on the pulp and paper schedule was reached by the senate Saturday which will be, under all the circumstances, very satisfactory to the Wisconsin members.

The duty is placed at $1 a ton on print paper, while the Wisconsin people want $5 while the house had placed it at $2.

But even more important than this is the fact that the high tariff party yielded on the matter of retaliatory and countervailing rates, and took them out of the bill, and that the wood pulp duty is removed entirely. Wisconsin mills regarding to import their wood in large quantities, this was of the greatest importance to them.

There is a report that a determined effort will be made to restore the pulp tax in conference but this is almost an impossibility.

MADISON LETTER

The long looked for changes in the personnel of the Board of Control and the Game warden's department were announced last week. Messrs. Dresser and Grotphorst of the Board of Control were replaced by Messrs. Cowie and Graebner. The latter is a democrat and was a member of the Board under the Peck administration. Game Warden Stone is succeeded by Captain Rickman of Racine.

Winter Everett, the correspondent of the Milwaukee News, was at the Capital Monday and gave out the report that Mr. Davidson would probably be a candidate for a third term and that Hon. W. D. Connor would be a candidate for senator in opposition to Senator LaFollette. It is rather early to prognosticate who the candidates will be but Mr. Everett's guess may be as good as any.

BARIL'S RESTAURANT BURNS

Sunday afternoon, a fire broke out in Albert Baril's restaurant on Brown street which did much damage to the building and water-soaked the stock. At first it was feared that the whole block would burn but little damage was done outside the restaurant building. This is the second fire that Mr. Baril has had. The elements seem to be after him. It is now probable that he will not continue in the restaurant in that location. Another man is trying to rent the building and continue the business. Whatever Mr. Baril does we hope he will be more fortunate.

Diagnosed.

"My little boy," said a matron, "used to bite his nails."

"Now, see here," his nurse said to him one day, "if you keep on biting your nails like that, do you know what will happen to you?"

"No. What?"

"You'll swell up like a balloon and burst."

"My little boy believed his nurse. He stopped biting his nails at once. That was about a month ago, and yesterday we had a very corpulent friend at luncheon."

"Jimmy, when our guest entered the room, looked at him with stern disapproval. Then he walked over to him. "You bite your nails," he said."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Butterfly Pastry.

The favorite delicacy of the native Australian are bugong cakes, which are made from a species of butterfly. Fires are lighted under the trees upon which the butterflies settle, and, suffocated by the smoke, they drop to earth. The bodies are pounded into pulp and made into cakes, which have a very pungent odor, and they have the undesirable effect of making the eater very ill for several days. But if the diet is persevered with the unpleasant symptoms pass away, and the invalids digest them well and become exceedingly fat.

A professor had been too exacting with a student at an examination in chemistry. "Can you tell me anything at all about prussic acid?" asked the professor.

"Yes," replied the student. "It's a deadly poison. One drop on the end of your tongue would kill a dog."

Rather Unusual.

During a trip of an English vessel one of the crew died of fever. Next day the crew was ordered aft to the quarter deck to attend the burial service. There being many sharks about, the captain ordered one of the firemen to attach two bags of coal to the corpse to make sure that it would sink. This was done, the burial service was read, and the remains of the unfortunate man had just been consigned to the waters when one of the sailors, Pat Cassidy by name, burst into laughter. In anger the captain turned and asked the reason for this untimely demonstration.

"Well," replied Cassidy, wiping his eyes, "I've seen many a man going below, but that's the first time I've seen one takin' his own coals with him."

The Saint He Picked.

A famous lawyer in Brittany once appealed to the pope for a saint. His holiness proposed that he should go round a certain church blindfolded and lay hold of the saint nearest his hand. He stopped and grasped a certain image, crying: "This be our saint! This be our patron!"

When the bandage was removed, he found that, though he had stopped before the altar of St. Michael, to his horror he had laid hold not of St. Michael, but of the figure under St. Michael's feet—the devil!

No Place Like Home.

The usual after dinner lull had taken place and Smithers had cooled down. After all, peace was a good thing and well worth the having, and a little more or less humble pie did not much matter. He determined to try woman's weak point—dress—and remarked in a pleasant voice:

"I see dresses are to be worn longer than usual this season."

But the hard lines at the corners of her mouth were still there.

"Well," she observed bitterly, "if they are to be worn longer than I am compelled to wear mine they will have to be made of sheet iron, that's all!" And then they started all over again.

What to Do When Broke.

A man who was always looking for quick ways to make money after reading an alluring advertisement decided to invest in a sure system for beating the races. He sent his money to New York and received by return mail an elaborate set of instructions how to bet, with a certain capital, to bring about the utter annihilation of the bookmakers and get for himself all the money at the track. He followed the system carefully, losing it is scarcely necessary to state, all his money. Then, disheartened, but not discouraged and still retaining faith, he wired to the men who sold him the system: "I have followed your system carefully and am broke. How shall I act now?"

A few hours later he received this reply, "Act like you are broke."—Saturday Evening Post.

Sound Absorbers.

Objects and materials in an auditorium absorb sound in a striking degree. The standard of perfect absorption taken is an open window, through which sound passes and does not return. A large audience absorbs 93 per cent of the sound; a Persian rug, 29 per cent of the incident sound; upholstered furniture or oil paintings, 23 per cent; curtains, 23 per cent; linoleum on the floor, 12 per cent; pine flooring, 6 per cent; glass, 3 1/2 per cent; brickwork or plaster, 2 1/4 per cent. This explains why it is necessary to speak louder to a large than to a small audience; also why a hall with unpleasant echoes when empty may become easy to speak in when filled.

"My long lost brother!" she cried with joy.

"My long lost sister!" he cried, with more joy.

"Now, look here," interrupted the surprised witness of the happy reunion, "which of you was it that was lost?"—Exchange.

The medical officers of schools do good service in pointing out that boxing, rowing, swimming and long distance diving are exercises which severely tax adolescents and before beginning which they should be medically examined, just as for running.—Loo-

IT IS A PART OF GOOD MERCHANDISING

To buy right. It is another feature of bright storekeeping to sell cheap. What's the use of being a merchant if you can't buy and sell better than some others? Some people are in trade just to "make a livin'." We are not! We are after reputation and all round success. And the prices we are putting on goods this week will help us both.

SHOES ARE NOT ALWAYS WHAT THEY MEAN

Many people know this "to their sorrow." Some shoes look stylish when new, but soon lose their shape; others are shapely to the end, but a torture as long as they last; still others look well and feel comfortable, but don't wear. We might name any number of equally unsatisfactory shoe combinations which you can avoid by buying here. Our shoes are stylish because they come from the best makers. They fit well because we have salespeople who know how to fit shoes. The materials are first-class.

FINE CONCERT

The concert given at the Methodist church last Friday evening under the auspices of the Wesleyan Society was a decided success. The entertainment was given by local talent of the city and not confined to members of the Methodist church. The entire program was of such excellence that it would be difficult to enumerate special numbers. The audience showed great appreciation of the chorus work and the mixed double quartette. Much favorable comment has been made by those in attendance and a wish expressed that more might have taken advantage of such a high grade entertainment.

UNION SERVICES

The following is for July and Aug.: The Baptist, Methodist and Congregational Churches will hold Union Sunday evening services during July and August, services to begin at 8 o'clock. Each church is to maintain its Sunday morning service as usual. The following schedule of services as outlined for the month of July:

Sunday evening, July 4th, Union service at M. E. Church; sermon by Rev. Grant Clark.

July 11th, Union service at Cong'l Church, sermon by Rev. Bergstrom.

July 18, Union Service at Baptist Church, sermon by Rev. S. J. Tink.

July 25, Union Service at M. E. Church, sermon by Rev. Grant Clark.

MOSQUITO MUSKETRY

Slap! Slap! Slap! It sounds like artillery's sinister snap! Over the front porch, back on the stoop, Out 'neath the trees where the sufferers troop You hear it, while fervently floats through the air A word here and there Quite distant from a prayer. The echoes come back from all points of the map— Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! Each insect so wily evaded the trap! Forth in the starlight, scudding away, He's back in a trice to bring greater dismay. The wound he inflicted, himself to amuse, You have turned to a bruise. Still the villain pursues, And his song rises shrill o'er the din of the scrap— Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! Slap! In slumbers of midnight or afternoon nap, In the hall bedroom, out on the lawn, With eager stiletto relentlessly drawn, Outstunging e'en gossip, he brings greater dread Than the things we are led To think somebody said. All attention is fixed on a common mishap— Slap! Slap! Slap! —Washington Star.

From the reports of some of the people who moved out west during the past year it is plain to see that silver dollars do not grow on trees. Many of them are encountering many hardships and a few Rhinelander people who communicate with them are of the opinion that they will return. It is learned that the dry weather is interfering with the crops in the unirrigated sections and the new settlers of the west are very much discouraged. We will gladly welcome all, old and new acquaintances back to good old "Onelda County."

CHANGE IN TIME OF SERVICES

During the Summer months the morning services at the Congregational church will begin at 11 o'clock instead of 10:30 as formerly. The S. S. session which has been convening at 12 o'clock will commence at 10 o'clock and continue one hour. This change will go into effect next Sunday, July 4th.

IRRIGATION MAKES VALUABLE SOIL
Gerry Browne, Former Rhinelander Boy Writes Article for Magazine

The following is taken from the April number of Conservation, a scientific magazine on forests, soils and minerals:

At the present time, when the tendency for people to congregate in the cities is so great, and when these congested conditions result in such a loss to health and happiness and morals to so many, it seems a pity that the wonderful resources of the irrigated sections of our great West can not be brought more closely to the attention of the public generally. There is room now for hundreds of thousands of our people in the irrigated districts already developed, and other great projects nearing completion. With the development of irrigation during the past few years, and at the cost of millions of dollars, agricultural, horticultural and intensified farming have advanced most wonderfully.

This is an age of specializing, and, thanks to our Federal Government, which through the Reclamation Service, the Forest Service, and the Bureau of Soils and Plant Industry, has brought these subjects down to a science, thousands of acres of arid and worthless lands are now occupied by the most prosperous and contented people on the continent. No other public appropriations our Government has made have resulted in so much good to so many.

In this age, when the young man asks, "What business am I to follow?" what better advice can be given him than to follow scientific agriculture and horticulture? He can make no mistake by taking up a tract of irrigated land, which has been proved to be adapted to fruit culture. It is an ideal life—not isolated, as on the prairies, farms and ranches, and our educated people are developing and making their homes in these new districts, and the social features of this life are more congenial than in the large cities. Many of the leading educators and business men of the country are buying and developing irrigated lands in the better fruit section. There are excellent school facilities and it is a healthy life, and a life of independence.

Fruit raising on irrigated land appeals to nearly every one. It is not drudging in the hot sun and dry and dusty soil for small and not sure yields of crops, but concentrated work confined to a small area. No one should be misled, however, and think a living can be obtained with little or no work. It requires the best attention and at the right time; but he who gives honest and intelligent attention to his work will be amply repaid in results. Most irrigation companies prefer young men, even though they have had no experience in country life and fruit culture. They generally learn the modern methods more correctly and in less time than the older farmers from the East, who are liable to be set in their methods. It is the intelligent and industrious class of people who have made the best districts so famous.

At the present time there are many irrigating companies putting land on the market, both in large and small tracts, some demanding high prices for the land and others much lower. The Government is also expending millions of dollars in new undertakings.

Irrigated lands are divided into two classes, one, which we may designate as fruit land, which, in the raw state, always brings a high price, and the other forage and crop land, which sells much lower. In this article I am dealing with the former. However I want to say here, that the latter class is valuable land, and with proper care will yield large returns, but it has not the attractive features nor as great prospects as the former. It can never reach the high prices which the fruit lands begin to bring immediately after they are planted to trees.

I have shown no partiality in selecting the best fruit districts, but have taken Wenatchee, Hood River, Yakima and Spokane Valley as examples, for in these districts there are better organizations and better results have been attained. There are other localities which are smaller and probably fully as good, but the above mentioned districts are undoubtedly the best known throughout the country on account of their age, and because their fruit has gained a world-wide reputation. Fruit growers in these places are using the most advanced and improved methods, and land values are the highest in the West.

These four great districts have set the example, which the younger territories are bound to follow to achieve success. It has not been easy to gain the reputation that Wenatchee, Hood River, Yakima and Spokane Valley have in the markets of the world.

There are many different kinds of fruits raised in these places, but the apple is the leader. The culture of this fruit has reached the highest possible development, and that grown in these sections commands the top-notch prices in the world's market.

These districts were all started in a small way, and it is now almost impossible to buy raw land except in the Spokane Valley, where a few tracts are being put on the market.

Success or failure extends from the time the land is broken and trees planted, up to the bearing state, and everything depends on proper care at the proper time, especially in pruning, spraying, irrigating and cultivating.

Thanks again to the Government interest and advice on these subjects, the growth of the fruit industry has been wonderfully developed, and the increased value of the land has gone beyond the wildest expectations, and is still advancing.

People look with amazement at the irrigated land values, and are just as much amazed at the prices obtained for fruit grown on these lands. The present prices and values are certain to keep on climbing as long as the fruit growers in these districts adhere to the high standards set in growing, packing and marketing their products.

The most essential requirement in making this arid land valuable is the water. The more complete and better regulated the water system, the more valuable it is to the land and the owner. Above all things the water supply must be adequate at all times.

The right kind of trees, true to name and from the best nursery stock, adapted to the soil, climate and general conditions, is the next essential to success.

Transportation is undoubtedly as important as any one thing, excepting water and nursery stock. Cars must be had at the time needed, and the more railroad competition at hand the more valuable the land is.

Soils are also very essential. In the four districts above mentioned, there are entirely different soils, but each one is especially adapted to growing different varieties of apples, peaches, pears, cherries, plums, prunes, apricots and grapes, and consequently the above localities have never been forced to compete strongly among themselves.

Wenatchee grows Spitzenberg apples very successfully and an exceptionally fine quality of peaches, apricots and cherries. Hood River leads with the Yellow Newton and Spitzenberg apples. Yakima is proved to be better adapted to Winesap apples and certain varieties of peaches and pears. Spokane Valley grows to excellent advantage the Jonathan, Rome Beauty and Wagener apples.

The systematic picking, packing and marketing of fruit leads to increased values for the products of the orchards, and this has caused the organization of fruit growers' associations, which are not only a great benefit to people selling fruits, but also to the buyers as there is no cutting of prices and no poor fruit shipped. Pruning, spraying and caring for the trees, and picking and packing the crops all tend to increased values. The fruit industry nearly equals the lumber industry in capital, and will likely lead in a few years.

When one thinks of a five-year-old orchard (which means it is just coming in to bearing) selling for $3000.00 per acre, it seems absurdly high, but by proper attention and cultivation, the land can easily be made to pay ten per cent, net, or better, annually on this valuation. Many sales have been made this past season in these districts, of bearing orchards at from $1,500 to $3000 per acre.

NEW GAME LAW
The new fish and game law went into effect last Saturday.
For all game fish except trout a uniform open season, opening June 1 and closing March 1. Trout season as before, opening June 10, only forty-five trout may be caught, the smaller six inches from tip of nose to edge of fleshy part of tail.
A bass must be at least ten inches from tip of nose to end of fleshy part of tail, a pike or pickerel twelve inches and a perch seven inches.
Pike caught in outlying waters may be shipped in or out of the state, but, with pickerel, must be accompanied by the fisherman, except that he may ship twenty pounds once in seven days unattended.

The Better Man.
John Stetson, the millionaire manager of the old Boston Globe theater, was nearly always besieged by some of his wife's relatives in search of a position. He appointed one of them as ticket receiver in the upper gallery. One night an East Boston tough tried to force his way in without paying. The new man attempted to stop him and was promptly thrown down the steps. The victim limped into the lobby and reported the affair to Stetson.

"What's become of the man who threw you down the steps?" queried the manager.

"He's in the gallery now," was the answer.

"Do you mean to say that you have let him go in without paying and coolly come and tell me about it?" yelled Stetson.

"What could I do?" expostulated the relative. "What would you do, Stetson, if you were there and saw a big burly brute pick me up and throw me down a long flight of steps?"

"What would I do?" echoed Stetson. "Why, I should discharge you and hire him on the spot."

Doors of Daring.
The mountains that unfold the vale
With hills of granite steep and high,
Invite the fearless foot to scale
Their stairway toward the sky.

The restless, deep, dividing sea,
That fows and foams from shore to shore,
Calls to its sunburned chivalry,
"Push out, set sail, explore!"

And all the bars at which we fret,
That seem to prison and control,
Are but the doors of daring set
Ajar before the soul.

Say not, "Too poor," but freely give.
Sigh not, "Too weak," but boldly try.
You never can begin to live
Unless you dare to die.

A Ready Made Verdict.
A northwest town once boasted a composite postmaster and coroner. He was called one day to give his verdict upon the case of a stranger who had been the victim of a fit on the main street. As the man was known to nobody, he was hurried to the hospital. There the case was diagnosed as appendicitis, but when the operation took place the attending surgeon discovered that the patient had been previously relieved of his appendix. The doctor endeavored to retrace his steps, but the strange man died from the effects of the operation.

The postmaster-coroner in rendering his verdict filled in the space after "Cause of death" with a rubber stamp which read, "Opened by mistake."—Success Magazine.

The Plumber's Revenge.
Severe frost had burst some pipes in a London mansion, so that a plumber had to be called in. The plumber was shown round by the coachman, but as soon as he commenced work an officious butler kept close watch over him. He didn't like this treatment and determined to play a trick on the butler.

In a bathroom he found a badly cracked pipe, and after cutting out the ice he quickly popped his thumb over the hole.

"Here, mate," he said, turning to the butler, "hold yer thumb over this hole while I fetch my solderin' iron. Don't shift or there'll be a flood."

An hour went by, but the plumber had not returned. Then the butler called a servant who was passing and told her to find the plumber and fetch him up. She found him enjoying lunch in the kitchen.

"The butler wants to know when you're going to release him," she said.

"Go on," told the old fool to shift his thumb. "I turned the water off before I started on the job," replied the plumber, grinning.

WASHINGTON NEWS

"Give us a lawsuit." That in substance is what the corporation tax means. "If you enact an income tax you are merely enacting legislation which will result in a lawsuit. So let us discard the income tax and enact a corporation tax."

Ellis Root and Nelson W. Aldrich did not say what is quoted but that is the substance of the argument of these eminent statesmen. Yet when they bring in a measure to put their ideas into the form of law it is palpably an invitation for a lawsuit. The corporation tax amendment which President Taft has permitted to be christened with his name is subject to the same legal objection which is urged against an income tax. Stripped of all legal verbiage the income tax was declared to be unconstitutional, for the reason that it is a direct tax and it is not apportioned according to the population of the several states. The corporation tax is also a direct tax and it is not apportioned according to the population of the several states.

The changing of the name in no way changes the character of this tax. Good lawyers in the Senate say that it is open to the same objection urged against the enactment of an income tax and to the same extent. The thorough airing which this whole subject is receiving upon the floor of the Senate will open the eyes of the country.

Although President Taft put his official O. K. upon the measure before it was introduced he must be pretty near to the point where he will change his mind. The President recommended the corporation tax strongly because he said that it would furnish a means for publicity of the affairs of corporations. As it has been proposed by Mr. Aldrich and O. K. ed by the President it does not do anything of the kind. It contains this significant clause: "It shall be unlawful for any collector, deputy collector, agent, clerk or other officer or employee of the United States to divulge or make known in any manner whatever not provided by law to any person any information obtained by him in the discharge of his official duty or to divulge or make known in any manner not provided by law any document received, evidence taken or report made under this section, except upon the special direction of the President." A fine one thousand dollars or imprisonment for one year or both is the penalty for the violation of this section. There will be no information gathered under this law that will be of any value to the public except the President should direct that it be made public. It is all made dependent upon the will of the President. A publicity feature that is dependent upon the will of any one man is of little or no value. A publicity feature, to be of any value, should automatically make all of the information which could be of value to the public in the framing of legislation for the control of such corporations, public. Those who have studied the question carefully say that in the levying and collection of taxes there should be no part of the machinery which would be sealed. Other tax payers should have the opportunity to know all of the facts so as to determine whether or not their valuation and assessment is being made upon the correct basis. And they should not be dependent for such information upon the will of any man or officer. The publicity feature as prepared under the direction of Mr. Aldrich is a fake. It could not be otherwise. Mr. Aldrich the master and Mr. Root and Mr. Wickersham the instrumentalities which worked out the legal end of this tax have no sympathy with the purpose of any such law and it cannot be expected that men not in sympathy with its purposes would work out a law that would be effective.

In the making of the schedules of the tariff bill Dr. Aldrich had his way on everything with the exception of the tariff on petroleum. He knew that the majority of the Senate would vote against him upon that question and he did not present the amendment of the committee placing a duty on oil. He had Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania do that particular job. It wouldn't look well for the father-in-law of John D. Rockefeller's son to present an amendment putting a duty on oil, especially when it was going down to defeat.

The schedules of the tariff bill have been completed and it is a revision upward. At the time of writing this letter it is not possible to give a complete summary of just what that upward revision is but as there have been many upward changes made since Senator LaFollette presented the complete analysis of the Senate bill two weeks ago it can be safely said that the tariff remains unchanged from the Dingley rates upon 75% of the total importations, that it is raised upon 15%, and lowered upon 9%. These figures are given in a general way. Senator LaFollette hopes to work out a detailed statement showing the effect of every change that has been made by the bill.

is not the only professional woman who can boast of her success as a cook. Myrtle Reed the famous novelist, is just as famous for her culinary achievements as for her literary success, and Edna Kenton, for whom Richard Watson Gilder predicts great success in American fiction is a wonderful cook. Mary Roberts Rinehart and Anne Warner French are others in the long list of literary ladies who also shine at the cook stove as well as at the desk.

While it may be the reaction to the simple life that attracts them to cookery, the stars themselves explain their interest by the declaration that cooking is just as much of a fine art as writing. They say that it is a matter of brain work as well as of manual skill. And every woman who has made a success of cooking, whether or not she has of writing or of acting, knows that this is the case.

Success in baking depends on the materials chosen as well as on the right temperature of the oven or the exact measures of quantity. You may by chance get the oven right, but if you have poor material you cannot possibly achieve a triumph of culinary art. You can't bake good cake or good muffins or good gingerbread or good biscuits unless you have good baking powder. If you have perfect material, you will have perfect results. Calumet Baking Powder, which received the Highest Award at the World's Pure Food Exposition, is the best baking powder on the market, and it sells at a moderate price.

INMATE CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Wm. Spitzer, at the poor farm, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary last Thursday with a party and his friends remembered him with presents. Mr. Spitzer has spent twelve years at the farm and is very popular with the other inmates and has a large place in the hearts of the overseer of the poor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Doyle.

William is kind and gentle and is greatly beloved by all who know him at the farm. May Mr. Spitzer have many more happy birthday anniversaries. The humblest place in life may be well filled.

Bowel Complaint in Children

When six months old the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, a well known merchant of Agnewville, Va., had an attack of cholera infantum. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was given and effected a complete cure. This remedy has proven very successful in cases of bowel complaint in children and when given according to the plain printed directions can be relied upon with perfect confidence. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

THREE LINKS IN A CHAIN OF FATE.

By NORMAN P. WHITE.
(Copyright, 1904, by American Press Association.)

"Fate be hanged! There's no such thing as fate. Napoleon said, 'I will make circumstances.' And he did—that is, till they became too powerful for him by the union of all his enemies."

"That may do for Napoleon, but not for me. That I am a resident of this city, that I am the husband of my wife, the father of a boy named Alan and a girl named Lucia and that we are all rich is the result of not one incident—that wouldn't be so singular—but of a number of incidents happening in succession, the absence of any one of which would have made entirely different surroundings for me."

"The first incident was this: On a certain day a man took up a paper he had never seen before and saw an ad. of mine. I was a young lawyer, with no clients. I advertised to secure the care of estates. The man was a stranger in town and wished for some one to be agent for a building there. Seeing my ad., he came to me. If he hadn't seen it I wouldn't be talking with you now. He told me that the building, one of a scattered estate, belonged to some one he was looking for and couldn't find. The interview resulted in his giving me the agency, the building being a part of the Pendleton estate."

"One afternoon, being bored by having nothing to do, I went out and strolled into a vitascope show. One of the pictures was the arrival of an express train at Schenectady, N. Y. The passengers poured out of the cars, and one, a girl about seventeen years old, came walking, with a satchel in her hand, toward the audience. It seemed as if she were going to step right into the showroom. She had a timid look on her face, such as a girl might have arriving in a strange city. She was looking about her, fearing some of the many vehicles passing higher and thither would run over her. I wanted to go and put my arm about her to reassure her. Then suddenly she passed out of the picture."

"There was something in the face and figure that took hold of me. The performance lasted half an hour, then began all over again. I waited till I had seen my little girl get out of the train and run the gauntlet of wagons and carriages three times. Not only that, I went to the show every day till the picture was taken off. By that time I was desperately in love. Odd, isn't it?"

"The next in the chain of incidents was a trip to Schenectady on business. That was two years after falling in love with a moving photograph. While there I went into a merchant's office and saw sitting at a table jabbing type keys with her fingers—whom do you suppose? I recognized her at once—the original of my moving picture! What sent me to that city and that very counting room? Fate."

"Having found my love, I didn't propose to lose her. I learned her name—Evelyn Brickworth—offered her a better salary than she was receiving to work for me, and she joined me at the end of the month."

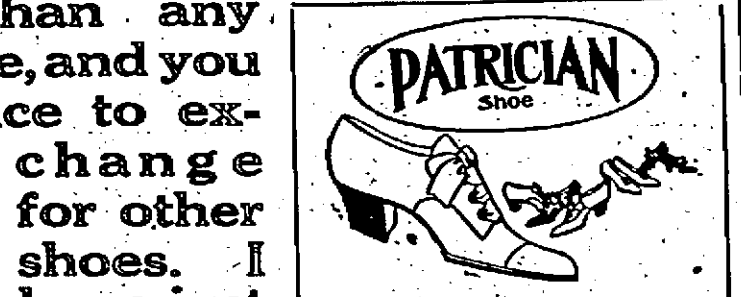

"You may rest assured I made it pleasant for her, and I made love to her in a delicate, gingerly way—she was very sensitive and reserved—and won her. But I was still a poor lawyer with too small an income to marry on, so she stayed on as my typewriter till I would be better fixed financially. That she might be of more assistance to me, I taught her to key my accounts."

"One day the man who gave me the agency of the building I spoke of came to town, and I paid him some col-

Located between Nagels and Roumans.

He told me that he had been unsuccessful in finding the heirs to the estate, and he rather thought the provision made in the will in case they were never found would be carried out. The provision was that at the expiration of a certain period the property was to go to specified charities. That period would expire in a few months. I asked him if he knew who the heirs were. He said he knew that all were dead except the children of Eliza Pendleton. At the name Eliza Pendleton I noticed that my assistant-fiancee—I mean my fiancée—looked up. After the man had gone she asked me:

"What was that man saying about Eliza Pendleton?"

"Why do you ask?"

"Because that was my mother's name before she married my father."

"It was probable that there were a great many Eliza Pendletons, but it struck me the matter was worth looking into. Evelyn told me that she knew nothing of her father's family. But that her grandfather on her mother's side was named Nathan Witridge. I had her typewrite a letter to the manager of the property, giving this information. He had gone back to where he lived and didn't get the letter till the next day. Then I received a telegram giving an affirmative reply and asking why I wished to know. This began to look peculiar. I replied by telegram that my typewriter was the granddaughter of Nathan Witridge Pendleton. The reply to this was, 'If she can prove it I am ready to pay her $500,000.'"

"Evelyn Brickworth had no difficulty in finding the requisite proof and being the only living heir, got the property. It was lucky for me that I had courted and won her while she was poor, for to do so after she became rich would have been beyond my pride."

"Fate does work queer things. There are three links in your chain, each of which was essential."

Wiped Out the Grudge.

Cooper, the artist, was so easily fooled that many spurious Coopers flooded the market, and the wary old Canterbury painter made a charge for giving his guarantee to his own works. One dealer to whom Cooper owed a grudge traveled down to Canterbury with a "Cooper" under his arm. He had just sold it for a good price, but required a guarantee. "You have no objection to oblige me?" said the dealer. "Not at all," replied Cooper, "but first pay my fee, 5 guineas. Thanks. Now, sir, you go home and burn that, for I never painted it."—Strand Magazine.

Giving Him a Hint.
Papa—Are you writing to that sweet heart of yours again, Edith? Why, you seem to have been doing so for years. How do you sign your letters? Edith—Oh, I always say, "I remain over your loving Edith Jones." Papa—Oh, well, strike out that "I remain" and the "ever" and put three X's under the "Jones." It's time that young man was coming to the point.

A Stung Party.
"What was going on at your place last night, aquire?" inquired Hi Spry. "The house was all lit up and"—

"Eh, yah!" returned the old coddler grimly. "They were having a stung party, and it was an unequalled success."

"A stung party?"
"Yup! Lot of people came to spring a surprise party on me, and I failed to show up."—Pack.
